

ImPACTful Presenting

- Do you want to improve your presentation skills because you have to convey information publicly in meetings or to groups?
- Do you want to improve your interactions with others in meetings?
- Are you interested in improving your personal image or brand?
- Do you simply want to improve your confidence at work?
- Or engage with your teams more effectively?

Knowing how to apply information and knowing how to pass information on, succinctly, is a key differentiator in the business arena today. This one full day course promises to assist with taking your presentation skills from 'the page to the stage' because information is memorable when it means something to the audience. Delegates are then also asked to prepare a short presentation and are given 60-minutes individual coaching after the one-day course so that they can immediately apply what they have learned.

Thank you so much for facilitating our recent presentation skills training. I was particularly pleased with the course and the results. I found the course to be well-structured, interesting, inspiring and, most of all, full of take-home value. In fact, I can frankly say that it was probably the best short course I have attended."
